Don't panic over those side jobs for Steinberg and UC Davis' May

Sacramento Mayor Darrell Steinberg has started a consulting firm. Incoming UC Davis Chancellor Gary May plans to keep two outside board seats. As long as they avoid conflicts and don't let outside work take time away from official duties, these arrangements should be fine.

There has to be some legal angles on this blacklisting.

Isn't this a form of ideological discrimination?

This is an unacceptable development by the Trump White House. Apparently this is how they retaliate when you report facts they don't like.

We'll keep reporting regardless.

This article discusses a world map in two hemispheres (ca.1538-39) by Frenchman Jean Mallard, whose stated aim was to draw a world map showing the results of French voyages. The outcome may be the earliest to show an imagined southern continent with a promontory extending north of the Tropic of Capricorn, south of modern day Indonesia. The promontory is named 'La Gatigare.' [Cattigara] The map has been described as a prototype of the Dieppe school charts, and La Gatigare as ... See More
